

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for receiving information and responding to requests is described. The method comprises receiving a message including a request, and identifying a keyword in the message. The method further comprises 5 performing an action based on the keyword in the message, obtaining data responsive to the request, and sending response including the data to the requester.

002880.P005